Extempore is one of the best ways to help students develop their logical and analytical thinking along with increasing their understanding of current topics. Speaking in front of an audience, helps sharpen the presentation skills of the students. Extempore promotes expression of the genuine thoughts of the speaker with no prepared content, enhancing his/her cognitive abilities. The Extempore Competition aimed to empower students with the skills to discuss and analyze contemporary social concerns with precision and also to improve the communication skills and confidence of the students. It served as a remarkable platform to facilitate the expression of diverse viewpoints. 27 students of B. Com participated in the event with great zeal and enthusiasm. The competition was judged by Mr. Rohit Sinha and Ms. Diksha Miglani.

The participants were given an opportunity to showcase their knowledge, skills and personality while adapting to situation and feedback through expressing their ideas on the given topics. The topics given to them were of general awareness and social issues. These included topics like Women Empowerment, Artificial Intelligence, Child Marriage, Importance of Education, Globalization, Goods and Services Tax, Tree Plantation, Child Labor, Chandrayaan Mission, G20 and Others.

The heart of the competition lay in the unpredictability of its themes; these themes were not disclosed until moments before the commencement of the competition. This spontaneous theme announcement added an element of surprise, challenging participants to think on their feet, much like real-world situations where informed social engagement is critical.

To balance spontaneity with fairness, participants were given a maximum of sixty seconds to prepare their thoughts. This short period encouraged them to swiftly organize their ideas, create a structure for their speech, and gather relevant information. The speaking time typically ranged to ninety seconds. This time constraint compelled participants to convey their thoughts concisely and effectively within the stipulated duration. The core of any competition lies in the evaluation process. Students were judged on the following criteria: Command over Subject; Explanatory Skills; Level of Confidence and Starting and Ending of the Speech.

The participants impressed everyone with their conversation and demonstration competencies. The competition was highly regarded for its ability to heighten social awareness among participants. Engaging with social issues required them to delve into problems that often went unnoticed, and to understand the complexity of these issues. The students were proficient in their speech and propositions. Himanshi Rana, a first year B. Com student emerged as the winner of the competition.

The Extempore Competition on Social Issues was more than just an event; it was a transformative experience. It provided students with a platform to discuss and analyze pressing social concerns, fostering social awareness, empathy, and critical thinking. The competition's structure, participant experiences, judging process, and impact on personal and professional development underscore its significance in shaping socially responsible and engaged individuals prepared to address the complex challenges of our times. The winners received certificates of recognition for their outstanding speeches. The event was a great success and provided an excellent opportunity for students to learn something new.
